All Banbury Garage Doors are constructed from GRP (Glass reinforced Polyester), the same material used in yacht building. Weight for weight it's stronger than any steel door and without any of the maintenance.

Made of GRP (Glass reinforced Polyester)- the same materials used in the making of ocean going yachts - and a material that weight for weight is stronger than steel - our hand made garage doors work hard so you don't have to.

They not only look good and replicating the fine detail and nuances where traditional woods are being replicated, but they are all fade resistant, posses remarkable strength and are minimum maintenance- usually only requiring the odd sponge down. Put away that paint can, forget rust and or course all the problems associated with wooden doors: Varnishing, warping, shrinking, twisting and rotting.

Banbury GRP doors are at home in any environment from the snowy Hills of Scotland through to the salt shores of the Cornish coast. With an enviable choice of styles, opening options, finishes, colours and glazing inclusions plus electronic operators should these be required- Banbury Garage Doors certainly do offer you everything. And should they also be required we also offer a range of GRP gates (just ask for details).

We offer 3 levels of finish on ALL styles:

- Silver The rear of the door has a framework that is bonded over for a more attractive finish - available in standard and made to measure sizes.
- Gold The rear of the door is completely coated to give a smooth and even appearance and lessen the effects of translucency.
- Platinum This is an advanced reverse system where the rear of the door is entirely enclosed by a flat panel concealing all formation of the framework. On gloss finish doors a smooth flat sheet will be applied to the back of the door. On woodgrain finish doors a tongue and groove effect will be applied.
